

GOVERNORS CONTINUE TO ENACT DUAL ROLE TODAY

NEW YORK STATE'S PECULIAR SITUATION IS IN NO WAY RELIEVED THUS FAR BY TWO CONTESTANTS.

WHO IS THE GOVERNOR?

Great Seal of State is Chained Up—Two Executives Continue to Occupy Rival Offices in State Capital.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Albany, Aug. 15.—The second day of the dual administration in New York state dawned on a whirlpool of confusion in the capitol. A steel chain with a heavy padlock decorated the great seal; the privy seal lay under lock and key; the way to the executive chamber, William Sulzer's citadel, was bolted and barred; and from two offices the rival claimants to the governor's chair continued to exercise their functions.

First Move.—Control of the national guard, access to the great seal, recognition by the secretary of state, were prerogatives stripped from Governor Sulzer by Lieutenant Governor Glynn, who claims to be the acting executive. Possession of the privy seal, whose imprint validates all documents coming before the governor on affairs wholly within the state and occupancy of the executive chambers remained with Sulzer.

Recognizes Glynn.—Secretary of state Mitchell May this morning called on the office of Lieutenant Governor Glynn before the latter's arrival.

He merely said to pay my respects, said Secretary May, "and to assure Mr. Glynn personally that I have decided to recognize him as acting governor of the state." As I read the law I can find no other way to act consistently, he said, "I will tie the case of taking sides."

"I have not yet asked the attorney general for an opinion as to whom I should recognize. However, if I am asked to certify any act of William Sulzer, as governor, I shall submit the question to the attorney general and await his formal opinion before taking action."

Glynn on Hand.—Lieutenant Governor Glynn on entering his office this morning announced he would call upon Governor Sulzer formally to vacate his office today. Preparations to do so for a long time, were made at the executive chamber upon the arrival of Glynn at the capitol. The locks on every door leading to the chamber and the governor's private office were changed, and an attendant was stationed at each entrance.

Lightly Tettered.—Mrs. Sulzer still lay today. She was improved when she awoke this morning from a refreshing sleep, but was still gravely ill.

Levy, majority leader of the assembly, is suffering from a nervous breakdown. The impeachment of Gov. Sulzer will not affect his salary check preliminary to or during the impeachment trial. Unless convicted on the impeachment charges, he will continue; otherwise, in case of conviction, his salary would stop.

Formal demand for the surrender of the executive chamber and offices, the privy seal, the seal of the state, records and documents relating to the executive department was made upon Gov. William Sulzer this afternoon by Lieutenant Governor Martin H. Glynn. Glynn refused to comply with the demand.

Included in Gov. Sulzer's refusal, according to D. Cady Herrick, chief of his counsel, is a proposal that Glynn and Sulzer prepare an agreed statement of the facts in the controversy and submit them to the governor to determine who is governor of New York. Mr. Glynn's letter is addressed to Mr. Sulzer simply as "Honorable William Sulzer of Albany, New York," and is signed "Martin H. Glynn, acting governor, and reads as follows: "In the performance of the duty which has devolved upon me by Article 4, Section 6 of the constitution, and pursuant to demand that you deliver and surrender to me the executive seal of the state, the use, possession and occupancy of the executive chamber and offices, the privy seal of the state, records and documents relating to the executive department, the bearer hereof is authorized to receive your answer to this communication. Signed, read, and delivered, Martin H. Glynn, acting governor."

Gov. Sulzer's reply was given promptly to Mr. Glynn's messenger. It was addressed to Honorable Martin H. Glynn, Lieutenant governor, and said:

"Sir: Yours of August 15 demanding that I deliver and surrender to you as acting governor the use, possession and occupancy of the executive chamber and offices and that I likewise deliver and surrender to you the executive privy seal of the state of New York and also all books, papers, records and documents in said chamber or offices, or in your possession or custody, or in the possession or custody of any person or persons connected with the executive department, the bearer hereof is authorized to receive your answer to this communication. Signed, read, and delivered, William Sulzer, governor."

The governor in his letter declines to recognize Glynn as governor, and says that he will continue to exercise and discharge the constitutional duties of the governor of the state of New York himself. Counsel for Lieutenant Governor Glynn made an appointment to confer this afternoon with Cady Herrick, counsel for Gov. Sulzer, in an effort to devise a way in which the court could speedily settle the controversy.

The only thing that's worrying me about this whole business is Mrs. Sulzer's condition. Gov. Sulzer told Col. T. W. Simmons of Washington as they entered the capitol today that "she is very ill and the dual scalawags have brought her name into the affair."

This was the first public reference made to the statement that Mrs. Sulzer had used some of his contribution without his knowledge to invest in stocks, spoke in the presence of the newspaper men. "It is too bad," agreed Col. Simmons.

"Yes," replied the governor, "I feel like punching the noses of the scalawags who brought her into it."

Causes Trouble.—Washington, Aug. 15.—The federal government soon may be confronted with a problem of determining whom it will recognize as governor of New York.

Under the Dick law by which the national guard enjoys government aid requisitions for arms, ammunition, supplies and transportation must be approved by the governor. There is the possibility of this question coming up in connection with some military maneuvers at Peekskill, N. Y., in September. The war department, however, it is stated, would not attempt the responsibility of deciding between Sulzer and Glynn, but would hold up New York's requisition until the state legislature decides the dispute.

Not Recognized.—Trenton, N. J., Aug. 15.—It developed today that an error was made last night in the announcement that Gov. Fielder of New Jersey had recognized Lieutenant Governor Glynn as the governor of New York in making requisition for a man arrested in New York City on a criminal charge and who was wanted in Hudson County, N. J.

The executive clerk in the governor's office here stated today that in forwarding the requisition papers no name was used, the document merely having been addressed to the Governor of the state of New York as has been the custom.

OPPOSING FACTIONS OF WOMEN IN CLASH

Anti-Suffragists Have Inning Before House Rules Committee While Suffrage Delegates Talk Ways and Means.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Aug. 15.—While their unconverted sisters were insisting before the house rule committee that a majority of their sex did not want the right of suffrage, the suffrage council of women voters today met to discuss ways and means for winning universal suffrage throughout the country. This was the closing day of the council's three day conference. The sessions were devoted to consideration of policies and reforms to be pressed in 1914.

At the morning session the principal subject considered was the legislative proposal to be advanced by the women next year in the suffrage states in which the legislatures meet. Miss Helen Todd of California, led the discussion. Reports on suffrage conditions in Alaska were made by Mrs. James Wickersham, wife of the delegate from the territory in Illinois by Mrs. Claudius U. Stone and in Kansas by Mrs. Victor Murdock, wife of the representative from that state. Dr. Clara Smith King was down to lead a critical analysis of the attitude of the national political parties towards suffrage. The council ended tonight with a public mass meeting.

The anti-suffragists had their inning today when led by Mrs. W. Scott of New York president of the national association opposed to women suffrage, they appeared before Chairman Henry and members of the house rules committee. They were prepared to prove, they told the committee, that the agitation has kept up by a comparatively small number and that the great majority of American women lookers with disfavor upon their sex entering the terminal of politics.

English People Surprised When Ambassador Page Apologizes For H. L. Wilson's Comments.

CITY BANK EXCHANGES SHOW VERY INDIFFERENT EXHIBIT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Aug. 15.—Dun's review tomorrow will say: "The comparison of bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States, shows quite an indifferent exhibit, the total amounting to only $238,758,550, a contraction of 9.4 per cent as compared with the same week last year. # JAPAN WANTS PEACE IN SETTLING ALIEN LAW IN CALIFORNIA

United States Favors Payment of An Indemnity to California Japs—Let Matter Stand.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Tokio, Aug. 15.—It was announced today that the United States has in mind the payment of an indemnity to Japanese subjects who have been affected by the California alien land ownership legislation. The United States has also recognized the rights of Japan to adopt a measure similar to the California bill. From intimations given in official circles it appears unlikely that Japan will adopt either. What Japan desires is permanent friendly relations with the United States and therefore she seeks a fundamental solution of the difficulty. If the United States has no solution to offer, it is stated, Japan will probably allow the matter to remain as a grievance. The public feeling of humiliation in this connection runs high. Some newspapers go so far as to advocate the expulsion of American missionaries from Korea on the ground they are undesirable aliens.

LA FOLLETTE GIVES SUPPORT TO WILSON

Upholds Him in Course as to Mexican Situation—Comments Selection Of Lind As Ambassador.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Aug. 15.—Senator La Follette sustains President Wilson in the course he is following in the Mexican situation. He attacks the Huerta government in an editorial today and claims that the same danger for intervention to sustain the elder Diaz exists from the same sources today to intervene in favor of Huerta. He says that President Wilson could have selected no better man to undertake the delicate mission of Mexico than John Lind of Minnesota.

"The effort of a section of the American press, aided by certain American politicians, to force the administration to recognize the Huerta government or embroil the United States with Mexico is reprehensible in the last degree," says Senator La Follette. "Back of this organization are powerful interests, ready to coin the lives of our soldiers or the fortunes of our country into the fortunes which they have at stake in their Mexican concessions. These interests were acquired under the Diaz government."

Senator La Follette reviews at length the history of the recent struggle in Mexico. He says that Madero was about to succeed, when "the same special interests which are exploiting the American people, fearing that the country would not be able to support the revolution, might be jeopardized, clamored for intervention by this government." He tells how President Taft rushed troops to the Mexican border, but that public sentiment would not sanction the use of American arms to aid the Diaz government directly or indirectly to crush Madero.

"Madero was finally betrayed," continues the senator, "and it is alleged by friends of Huerta, who set himself up as ruler of Mexico, that people of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, in fact, all the northern portion of the country, were practically no longer in arms and the Huerta government was practically no longer in this territory. Ever since the murder of Madero and the revolution which followed there has been a demand for intervention by the United States. This demand comes from the same sources which were insistent for intervention to sustain the elder Diaz."

HOLD HEATED DEBATE

Senator Bacon as Sponsor for President Urges Unanimous Support, Declaring "Force Means War."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Aug. 15.—Senator Penrose forced another debate on the Mexican situation today by introducing a resolution calling upon President Wilson to inform the senate whether William Bayard Hale is in Mexico. The resolution was introduced by the executive department of the government, it so, by what authority he was appointed and what compensation he has been given. The White House explanation of Hale's presence in Mexico has been that he was there as a personal friend of President Wilson forwarding information.

Refers to Dispatches.—Senator Penrose declared that he had a desire to further complicate a delicate situation by indulging in jingoism. He referred, however, to dispatches from Mexico telling of the serious plight of Shirley C. Uiz, son-in-law of Lieutenant Governor Reynolds of Pennsylvania, who with his wife and little daughter are believed to be in danger from revolutionists near the city of Chihuahua. The senator declared that unless the United States government took action, the lives of these people would be in danger.

Another resolution by Mr. Penrose calling for consular reports as to the situation in Mexico since January 1st, was also introduced. The resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations.

Force Means War.—His statement made in bitter terms followed a declaration by Senator Bacon that "force means war." ## Where Shall We Go To Get It?

"Don't go! Come right here"—say the merchants of this town in today's Gazette. Wonderful how these live business men anticipate your needs. Right now they are cleaning their August stocks and saying what they shall offer you at Christmas. The steamers and trains are bringing in our fall attire—planned long ago. But the important part in the merchant's fall and winter plans is to start with fresh new goods. Well, what he has right now. That's why August is a month of unusual retail sales. Better clear shelves at a temporary loss, than capital tied up in summer merchandise. It pays to watch the advertising every day in the year, but it will never pay you better than right now in this month of August. The time to buy is when the other fellow is anxious, and never are the merchants offering better inducements than now. Read and see?

Unanimous on the Point.

The British Weekly tells a good story of the late poet laureate, Mr. Alfred Austin. He had been talking a good deal about himself after a dinner, as was his wont, to the annoyance of the other guests, and at last he said: "Lady—, is it time for the poet laureate to go to bed?" And everyone in the room said "Yes."

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

CORN ON THE COB.

CORN on the cob is a tantalizing summer delicacy which is eaten with butter, salt and the front teeth. It is seldom tampered with by people who have lost their teeth until it has been shaved into a saucer, where it can be reached with a spoon and eaten with perfect composure.

Real corn on the cob is never enjoyed by anyone except those who reside in the corn belt and watch it tassel out from the kitchen window. The dining cars and eastern restaurants serve a pale, flabby imitation which is the same as the real thing.

On account of its adhesive qualities, corn on the cob is never served at society events, such as the six o'clock dinner or the wedding breakfast. There is nothing that will discourage conversation at the dinner table quicker than a plate of sweet corn which has to be held in both hands and shifted rapidly from ear to ear. There is also a strong and unreasoning prejudice against corn on the cob on the part of guests who are not satisfied with the way their plate fits.

Unlike most foods, corn on the cob can be eaten in any quantity and at all times without causing confusion to anybody but those who are possible eaters. It is very trying to be seated next to a dinner guest who is endeavoring to dispose of his quota of sweet corn without allowing the conversation to languish and whose articulation is considerably retarded thereby. We doubt, however, if this is any worse than listening to the intermittent ejaculations of the gourmand who utters the meat course with one hand and the head course with the other.

WORK FOR PRISONER UNDER THE NEW LAW

Sheriff Whipple Makes First Arrangement Today Getting a Job for Man Sentenced from Beloit.

Pal Prisoner, sentenced by Judge Clark at Beloit for ten days at the county jail under the new law which requires the sheriff to provide employment for prisoners, was the first prisoner to be given work by Sheriff Whipple. He was given the job of a milkman and must stay in their employ for the time of his term. He must turn over to Sheriff Whipple the amount of his fine which will be deposited in the county treasury.

to the man the provisions of the new statute under which he was committed. In case he should refuse to work or obey orders after a position was been found for him Sheriff Whipple may place him on a bread and water ration in solitary confinement at the jail. In case he should attempt to escape and be caught he might be turned over to the state penitentiary at Waukegan for a one year term.

Peters has no one dependent upon him and consequently it will not be necessary on the part of the sheriff to make any collection for that purpose.

WOMEN'S WILL BE MOST IMPORTANT FEATURE AT FAIR

Woman always has occupied a high place in Wisconsin. She has had a hand in every important thing that has happened in the state since it was a wilderness up to the present, when it is recognized as one of the greatest commonwealths over which waves the stars and stripes.

The regular subdivisions commonly termed domestic and fancy work. Culinary work leads naturally in the domestic line, and that Wisconsin women are capable of making an exhibit of culinary products has been demonstrated both in the homes and at the state fair for many years. In this line are various kinds of bread and cakes, prepared vegetables and fruits.

The fancy work classes include drawn work, embroideries, tapestries, lace, knitting and crochet work. Exhibits in this line at the state fair have also been given largely because of the fact that many women of the state have not forgotten the arts brought by them or their ancestors from foreign countries.

THE GREAT DIVIDE

The management of the Myers theatre announces "The Great Divide" as the attraction Sunday, Aug. 17, matinee and evening. At last the playgoer of Janesville is to be given the dramatic treat so long awaited and so eagerly looked forward to; the most moving drama of many seasons; a masterpiece of playwriting—"The Great Divide." This beautiful offering from the pen of the foremost of American's youngest poets William Vaughn Moody, comes to us recommended by the leading dramatic journals of the United States, as the most absorbing, intensely human play ever produced. The production is handsome and complete in every detail. The atmosphere of the picturesque West is faithfully created.

"The Great Divide" is under the management of C. S. Primrose whose past record for furnishing plays of the highest order of entertainment has earned for him the title of "The Younger Belasco of the West."

The Thiel, one of the best offerings on tour in the West this season is also owned by this enterprising young producer.

WORLD RIFLE SHOTS WILL HOLD CONTEST

Nearly a Thousand at Camp Perry, Ohio—Tournament Will Continue Next Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Camp Perry, O., Aug. 15.—Nearly
a thousand sharpshooters from all parts of the United States and from many foreign countries are encamped
here, ready to compete in the series
of national and international shooting
matches with rifle, pistol and revolver,
which were formally opened at this range today and are scheduled to continue until September 9. The tournament, the largest ever held in this country and perhaps anywhere in the world, began today with the contests
of the National Rifle Association and of the Ohio Rifle Association, which will continue until the following Saturday of next week. On the following Monday, August 19, the National matches—team, individual and pistol—by authority of Congress and the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, will begin to continue until the following Saturday. Next in order
will be the nearly half a hundred international matches under the auspices of the Confederation Pan-Americana
de Tiro (the Pan-American Shooting Union). The Union Internationale des Federations et Associations de Tiro
(the International Union of Rifle Associations) and the National Rifle Association of America, which will continue until Tuesday, September 9, on which day the tournaments will close.

Seven foreign countries and the United States will line up in the international contests for world championships and the United States Infantry, Cavalry, Navy and Marine Corps are the pick of the National Guards of a majority of the states of the union.
Canada will try to take back to Ottawa the historic Palma trophy,
first shot for in 1876, which the United States team in 1907 won at Ottawa by the world score of 1712,
and which another United States tea
selected at Seagirt last September,
breaking score of 1720.

Among the foreign countries to take part in the international contests
are Mexico, Cuba, Argentina, Switzerland, France, Sweden and a number of other countries. Cash and silver and bronze trophies of from $150 to $3,000 in value, amounting in the aggregate about $50,000, make a prize
list four times greater than at any shooting tourney ever held before in North America. The cash prizes alone
in the international matches foot up more than $14,000. In addition to these general prizes there are many special prizes and trophies to be competed for. What promises to be the most interesting contest will be the international rifle shooting championship of 300 metres using what is designated as the "free rifle." This method of free hand shooting with
the hair trigger, is comparatively new to American sharpshooters
but is generally practiced by experts
in European countries.

Time.

Janesville's claim that it has two of the best tracks in the middle west
was demonstrated Thursday when,
despite the rain which fell in torrents
for several hours early in the morning, the race program arranged was carried out on scheduled time in the afternoon on a track that was almost lightning fast.

Threatening clouds kept many lovers of the harness game away and prevented auto parties and visitors from away from attending but those who were present thoroughly enjoyed the three races scheduled and the extra
half mile event for local horses.

While the twenty-four trot and the twenty-two mile pace, in getting on edge throughout the contests. It took four heats for the twenty-four pace and it was exciting enough to satisfy any fan however pessimistic.
Taking it all in all it was a most excellent program. There was some delay in the twenty-two mile pace, in getting the field away. The driver in the sist on getting ahead of the pole
horses and it was only after starter
John Fisher had warned them repeatedly and finally fined E. Weeks driving Bessie Hal, that the word go was given.

The First Event.
In the first event of the afternoon
the two twenty-four trot, President Jr.
owned and driven by W. N. Willard of La Crosse, won the first three straight heats. All three heats were good and except for the first round the President had to fight it out with the field
Eva Bahr the little brown mare, being a hot contender.

Seven Starters.
In the twenty-two mile there were seven starters, Alice McGregor, winning the three straight. Baffa being a hot contender for honors. There had been much interest in this race
owing to the entry of Josie McKiney,
a local mare owned by C. S. Putnam,
but unfortunately the mare went lame
in the first heat and was withdrawn.
The winner is owned by State Senator Hood of La Crosse, who witnessed his pet win and as she was trained here
this spring speaks well for the local
track conditions as a training spot.
Fred Langston the favorite did not make a good showing and sadly disappointed his backers.

A Big Field.
It was a big field that faced the
start in the twenty-five mile pace.
Delay in getting away also caused this race to drag and it took four heats
to decide the winner. Swamp Maiden
a handsome little mare took the first heat but broke in the second finishing race. The winner was a local mare owned by Dr. Waufford, this city had been entered in this race,
but unfortunately went lame in training
Tuesday and it was decided to turn her out for the rest of the season.
This little mare has shown some unusual bursts of speed this spring and
was looked upon as a sure thing.

Local Horses.
In the special race for local horses
there were three scratches leaving only J. C. N. owned by J. C. Nichols and Pay Day in the contest. J. C. N.
walked away with the first heat of once around the half mile track with 1:12 1/2. The first quarter was made in 32 1/2 seconds. Pay Day developed more speed in the second heat and J.
C. N. was forced to go his best pace to win. Time 1:07 1/2.
Immediately after the races the mile and half mile track were both rolled and the water that was on the
turns of the mile track was hauled out.
State Senator C. L. Hood of La Crosse, whose horse won the 2:20 trot was enthusiastic over the Janesville track and stated that hereafter he would train his horses at Janesville
and he considered the local track to be the finest and best in the Northwest.

AVIATORS PREPARED WATERPLANE FLIGHT

Southampton Filled With Visitors
from All Parts of United Kingdom—$25,000 Prize Offered.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Southampton, Eng., Aug. 15.—This city is filled with visitors from all parts of the United Kingdom and many foreigners who have come here to witness the start tomorrow of the great waterplane flight around Great Britain, in which a number of the best craft of this type in Great Britain
will compete for the $25,000 prize
offered by the proprietors of the Daily Mail to the aircraft which first completes the prescribed circuit within a period not exceeding seventy-two hours. The contest which will be formally opened tomorrow, is held under the auspices of the Royal Aero Club, which has arranged the route
for the flight and has set down the rules governing the race.

The start will be made from here
and the route will follow a line via Dover, Varnham, Scarborough, Aberdeen, Inverness, Oban, Dublin and Pal-
mouth, back to Southampton water.
The controls will be at or near the places mentioned and competitors
must alight at each of these controls for purposes of identification. Each aircraft must remain for thirty minutes at each control, but this time will not be counted as part of the seventy-two hours. Stoppages between the controls are not prohibited, but the time thus consumed is counted as part of the flying time. Only British subjects and pilots registered and licensed under the rules of the Royal Aero Club will be permitted to take part in the race. Each machine must carry a passenger in addition to its pilot and their combined weight must not be less than 255 pounds. Any defects in weight must be made up by ballast. Only machines entirely built in Great Britain or the British colonies
will be permitted to take part in the race. Towing is not prohibited
but the finishing line must be crossed in flight.

HARDEST HITTING PITCHER IN GAME

Doc Crandall.
Doc Crandall of the New York
Giants enjoys the distinction of being the hardest hitting pitcher in the big leagues. He has a batting average of .355. He is showing up pretty well in the box, too, though outshone by such
old standbys as Mathewson, Marquard, Tesreau and Demaree.

47TH NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC, CHATTANOOGA, TENN., SEPT. 15-20.
Wisconsin Veterans Attention:
Arrange to go with the Wisconsin
Official Special Train via Chicago and North Western Ry., from Milwaukee,
leaving Lake Front Station, that city,
at 2:00 p. m. September 15th. Many of your war time comrades will be on this train. For illustrated literature and full particulars address Capt. C.
H. Henry, Department Commander,
Dau Claire, Wis., or Ticket Agents,
Chicago and Northwestern Ry.

Two Great Classes.
The human race is divided into two classes: those who go ahead and do something, and those who sit and ask,
"Why wasn't it done the other way?"
Holmes.

The barometric depression in the Northwest has become more intense.
The barometer has fallen to 23.6 or lower in the Red River Valley, and in northern Saskatchewan and Alberta.
Showers and thunderstorms have occurred in connection with it throughout western Canada, and in the vicinity of the upper Great lakes. The rainfall was especially heavy in Manitoba
and eastern Saskatchewan, 2.22 inches
falling at Winnipeg, 1.04 at Minnedosa,
and 1.12 at Qu'Appelle.
The southerly winds in front of the disturbance in the northwest are the seat of continued hot weather. Maximum above 100 degrees were reported
quite generally on the northern plains
yesterday.
It is cooler in the rear of the depression, minima lower than 50 degrees were recorded this morning
throughout a wide area in the northern Rockies.

THE TWO PERCENTS.

There is much discussion just at present over the fate of the government's two per cent bonds. McAdoo has made charges, in his capacity as secretary of the treasury, that Wall street influences are trying to cripple the government by depreciating the value of these bonds and Wall street sits back and laughs at the charge. In the halls of congress some of the republican leaders attempted to bring McAdoo to time for his charges, but failed to have sufficient votes at their command and it fell through. Now the Wall Street Journal makes a rush at the discussion of the question and explains the situation as follows:

"In spite of the efforts of the secretary of the treasury to bolster up temporarily the price of United States 2 per cent bonds, it is obvious that the problem of dealing with them in connection with the monetary reform has not yet been solved. The market is highly artificial with many would-be sellers and few buyers. If similar conditions existed in regard to an industrial bond, its quotations would go down with a rush. As matters stand, the banks are retaining from forcing the 2 per cents upon the market, in the hope that some solution of the problem will be found which will protect them from serious loss."

"Two conclusions have emerged from the consideration which has been given by the banks to the recent amendments of Secretary McAdoo, providing for the redemption of the bonds at par in twenty years and for the continuance of the existing privileges of circulation without restraint until the end of that time. These conclusions are:

"1. Redemption at par in twenty years is not equivalent to the maintenance of a par price during the interval, because of the low return upon the bonds.

"2. Conversion at 3 per cent is not equivalent to the possession of a security worth par, because of the present low quotations for gilt-edged securities."

"Thus, while the proposals of the secretary have been in the right direction, so far as the interests of the banks are concerned, they are not adequate to meet the situation. The secretary's amendment as adopted by the House committee, has serious defects on the other side in that it emasculates one of the most important features of the bill. By leaving the old form of bank-note intact for twenty years, the new form becomes little more than an emergency circulation, and the whole measure is little better than a sublimated version of the Aldrich-Vreeland law, which is now in force. The new plan involves the beneficial features of some concentration of reserves and co-operation; but it is doubtful if it would create a broad enough foundation for carrying out its purpose effectively."

"Obviously, the last word has not been said in regard to the position of the bonds. A plan which will provide for the two per cents at once, without material loss to the banks, will do much to overcome the sullen hostility to the whole project shown among many of the country banks."

JUST RUMBLINGS.

It would appear that Castro's revolution was merely one of the rumblings of the Spanish Main. It was a snuff in the pan and did not amount to anything tangible. Ever since Cortez invaded Mexico three hundred and ninety-two years ago, and carried the Cross to the simple natives by the edge of the sword, there have been continual uprisings throughout the Latin countries of South and Central America. It is in the blood and one of the legacies left by the Spanish conquerors of mixed blood, Uncle Sam, as the policeman of the American continent, has his hands full keeping the various elements apart and it is not surprising that Castro, tired of foreign life, sought to regain power in the country he began life in as a poor mule boy and left with millions, its deposed president.

CHINESE PROBLEM.

The Chinese problem is far from settled. Dispatches announce bloody conflicts between rebel and government forces and always conclude with statements that troops of both armies unite in looting the cities captured. China is awakening from its slumber of centuries and it is not surprising that bloodshed and violence follow. However, it is to be expected that matters will adjust themselves shortly and a firmly established government be placed in control. Meanwhile the press dispatches are full of the tales of horror which shocks the sensibilities of the readers of the kind disposition.

STANDING PAT.

William Sulzer still maintains he is governor of New York state and is standing pat on the proposition. He does not care what the minions of Tammany may say he was elected governor by the people and will stay in office until put out by court action. Whether or not Sulzer is guilty of all the wrong-doing charged to him, is a matter to be decided, still he is head and shoulders above the element that seeks to oust him because he would not follow their dictations. Guilty or not, New York's governor has the sympathy and respect of a goodly proportion of the citizens of the United States, and if deposed will be a bigger man than Charley Murphy, Tammany's boss, in the public estimation.

"Kissing is not necessary," says a Baltimore police officer who is trying to eliminate park spooning. But it isn't the necessities of life that are valued the most.

Considering things as they are it is more than possible that Professor Taft is still satisfied with the verdict of the people at the polls last November.

Huerta may talk, about not "taking Lind seriously," but it will be well for him to bear in mind the fact that Lind is taking him seriously.

An eloping couple in Illinois went on a hunger strike when arrested. Perhaps it was as well to have the experience then as later.

There is some hope for a California senator when he can get mad enough over something else to forget the Japanese situation.

There are indications that President Wilson is not going to take as many trips about the country as some of his predecessors did.

Just announced: "The wisdom of George Bernard Shaw, in one volume." Vest pocket edition?

It now remains for Huerta to prove that, in order to ruin his reputation, Madero committed suicide.

Something has gone wrong. Not a single state has reported its peach crop a failure this year.

Before Huerta expects recognition of his government by this country he should get it at home.

The Diary of a Bonehead.
In an unguarded moment when my wife was out wool gathering and my guardian angel was asleep at the switch I confided to a friend the fact that I might someday, take out some life insurance.

seem to rally like microbes and to
attract more of their kind.
I told my friend about my intention at noon over our lunch. By 3 o'clock seven life insurance agents
had called and had killed the afternoon.
There were five more waiting outside on the sidewalk and three in the street car which I took for my home.

When I reached home there were nine on the front porch and seven in the parlor entertaining my wife with horrible tales of life insurance or the lack of it in which there were visions
of orphans in the poorhouse.

At 10 o'clock that night the last
agent had spoken his piece and departed,
although several had volunteered
to stay all night and continue
listening to them all the evening.
Had every symptom of every disease
that had ever been invented.

When I awoke in the morning
there were six now life insurance
agents sitting on the porch and I was only 6 o'clock. They seemed to breed like Parker Butler's guinea
pigs, although, of course, a life insurance
agent is not that kind of a pig.

I escaped by the back gate and took the car for my office. As I drew near I thought the building was on fire. The street was packed with people away out the car tracks.
They were life insurance agents
waiting for me to open my office.
I didn't get off the car, but continued
on to the railroad station, and
after waiting down in the country
with my wife's folks for a month or
with my wife's folks for a month or
There is only one way to get life
insurance, and that is to say nothing
but just go and get it.

SELF CONTROL.

Why not be a king in your own world, not a king over others, but a king over yourself?

If you fail to exercise self sovereignty you are like a ruler who abdicates, who confesses himself too weak to sit upon his throne.

Such a ruler is a quitter. Don't you be a quitter.

Did you ever realize that your body is made up of many lives, that it is full of organisms and that your own will is the ruler of this populous realm?

Did you ever realize that you are a bundle of appetites, of desires, of affections, of forces that you cannot measure and of tendencies you cannot fathom?

Did you ever realize that you in your heredity and in your soul, whose origin you do not know, have inherited the wisdom and experiences, the essence and results of innumerable lives?

This is no mean kingdom over which you are called to exercise control. There is in you something of your father and father's father, of your mother and mother's mother, of remote generations whose names you never heard.

There are also in you reminiscences of yourself, memories that guide you and yet are very potent in shaping your life.

Just as you are the heir of the past, so you are the creator of the future. Your children and children's children through the generations of the future will be better or worse because of what you do, what you think, what you are.

Have you measured these things? Have you contemplated what your rulership of self may mean?

It is not alone your own success or failure you are shaping, but the happiness or misery, the strength or weakness, the health or disease of those unborn.

Not in one single moment of our lives do we live into ourselves alone. We are helping or hurting others all the while.

For kingship means responsibility and in rulership over self is involved obligation unto others.

Whatever your station in life, you are a king or queen in your own right. Rule yourself.

Follow the royal road of success, not only for your own sake, but for those you love and for those who will come after you.

GOVERNMENT CLOSES
ARGUMENTS IN CASE
OF MAURY I. DIGGS

Nellie Barton, Alleged White Slave, Testifies For State—Willingly Deceived Parents.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

San Francisco, Aug. 15.—The government closed its case this morning against Maury I. Diggs, former state architect of California, with the testimony of Nellie Barton, a friend of Marsha Warrington, whom the government charges Diggs transported from Sacramento to Reno for purposes which the Mann act defines as a felony.

Lola Norris was led today in cross-examination over the testimony she and Marsha Warrington have already spread on the records of the government's case against Maury I. Diggs on trial for violation of the Mann white slave act.

"Why did you deceive your parents?" asked Diggins.

"Well, I knew Mr. Caminetti and Mr. Diggs were married," she answered, "and I knew that my parents would have forbidden us to go with them if they had known who they were. I knew it was wrong for me to go with either of them, but I did not consider it positively wrong for me to go with Mr. Caminetti, because the time he would spend with me I knew he would not spend with his wife anyway."

Nellie Barton, a pretty Sacramento girl was in court accompanied by her mother. The girl will attempt to show that Diggs and his attorney Charles Harris attempted to make use of her friendship with Lola Norris and Marsha Warrington as a go-between for messages to "stand pat" and testify to nothing that would do Diggs and Caminetti injury.

(15) Verses 13-14—When the good men and women who spend their time in helping their fellows "get more kicks than coppers" for their pains what ought they to do? What did Moses do?

(16) If we know we are on God's side of any subject is there any need to fear? Why?

(17) Verse 15—When we are up against any great difficulty what is the thing to do?

(18) When is praying folly?

(19) Verses 16-20—What hope is there for success to those who are against God or expectation for failure to those who are on God's side?

(20) Verses 21-23—What was the fate of Pharaoh and his army and what is always the fate of the wicked?

Rings in History.
Signet rings are mentioned in the Bible, and we find the ring in those days, to have been a sign of honor as it is with us. During the war a lover who wished to specially honor his bride sent the gold money to the goldsmith with which to fashion the wedding ring, for in those days the heavier and broader the band the better, and girls used to measure the width and "left" the circles to see whose was the broadest and heaviest, and thereby establish a social standing unimpeachable.

STATE INSPECTOR
DOWNING IN CITY

Was in Janesville Yesterday Making Inspections of Creameries—Also Visited Stores.

State Sealer of Weights and Measures F. T. Downing was in Janesville yesterday and inspected the creamery of the Shurtleiff Company and dairy and milk distributing station of Gridley and Kraft. He also made inspections in a small number of meat markets and groceries. To City Sealer Helms, who accompanied him part of the time he made no particular complaint as to the conditions he found and seemed to find them generally satisfactory. His practice in entering a store was to ask for a certain measure of commodities without disclosing its identity and then after receiving them to step behind the counter and reweigh them.

ELGIN BUTTER PRICE FIRM AT TWENTY-SIX AND A HALF

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 11.—Butter firm, 26 1/2 cents.

WISCONSIN CROPS ARE IN GOOD CONDITION

Although seeding and planting season seemed unusually backward and unfavorable, Wisconsin farmers will this year in all probability harvest their customary excellent crops. Grain crops of northern and central Wisconsin, according to Professor R. A. Moore of the College of Agriculture of Wisconsin, have been especially good this season. Alfalfa, the clovers, and timothy have yielded beautifully throughout the state and the Badger corn crop promises to be as good or better than any harvested in recent years.

Farmers of the state have perhaps harvested more feed this year than ever before. As a consequence their barn lots are full and after threshing their bins will be in similar condition. Much of the hay crop was of poor quality because there was too much rain at haying time to permit of the handling to best advantage. The rains delayed the cutting which caused the stems to become woody.

MANY ATTRACTIONS PLANNED FOR FAIR

Great Interest Being Taken in Babies' Health Contest—To Have Day of Fireworks and Vaudeville.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, Aug. 15.—Beside the large number of attractions already advertised the fair management have closed a contract with a booking house in Milwaukee for a vaudeville show on the grounds, and an application has been filed by another show, ground to which will probably be given.

Added to the free attractions a novelty has been provided, the directors closing a contract yesterday which secured a large number of day fireworks. These are a complete novelty and a number of these will be sent up each day.

The babies' health contest is also exciting unusual attention as this is another innovation, precedent being the usual beauty shows. This week the management saw that more ground was necessary and accordingly rented a piece from Dr. Snashall, and on which they have put a large tent for accommodation of the race horses. One stable from Janesville and two Alabama horses are already on the grounds.

The inclemency of the weather has, in a measure, held back the work of getting the grounds in readiness, but a large force of men are available, so there is no doubt but that the fifteenth annual session of the Rock county fair will witness the largest number of exhibits and biggest crowds ever visiting Evansville. Particular stress is being laid on the special train from Alton, Hanover, Magnolia, Postville and Janesville, Saturday, expectation being that a large number from these places will avail themselves of this opportunity.

Another evidence of the preparation for the fair is the fact that reservations for rooms have been

MILWAUKEE GAS RATE IS FURTHER REDUCED

Commission Acts Following Investigation of Company's Business—Means Little to Individual.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., August 15.—Milwaukee gas rates will have another reduction by order of the railroad commission today.

A little more than two years ago the gas rates of the Milwaukee Gas Light company were reduced to the extent of more than $140,000 per year. Soon after this reduction was made, Erich C. Stern, on behalf of himself and others of the city of Milwaukee, brought a complaint against the Milwaukee Gas Light company asking for a still further reduction of rates. These complaints caused the commission to value the property and business of the company and to audit the books, as well as to determine what constituted a reasonable cost of furnishing gas in Milwaukee. These investigations have been completed and have resulted in further reductions announced today, which mean they amount to comparatively little for the individual consumer, but to a considerable sum in the aggregate. The primary rate, for instance, has not been reduced, but the quantity of gas which can be used under this rate has been reduced by almost one-third. The secondary rates are also left as they were, but a new excess rate has been provided, which is considerably lower than the preceding rate.

The rates on gas in Milwaukee are now considerably lower, as shown by comparative tables in the commission's decision, than the rates on gas in almost all of the large cities of the country, where they are not affected by natural gas. The decision of the commission is replete with detailed analysis and comparative tables. It occupies nearly 200 pages of typewritten matter.

It is to be of Barry Granite, 20 feet and 4 inches high above the foundation, the figure being 6 feet. On one side will be cut in raised letters the G. A. The electric storm Thursday morning damaged considerable property in and near Evansville, numerous buildings being struck by lightning, though fortunately none caught fire. George Keylock, while shutting a window in his house Thursday morning was knocked down by a bolt which struck his barn. The city property of V. C. Holmes shows the mark of the bolt which tore quite a hole in the roof of the hotel, suffering the loss of several head of cattle. Grant Genway, residing between here and Brooklyn, lost a horse, and Arthur Franklin also had property struck. Several chimneys were partially destroyed and also plastering in a couple of houses was torn down by a bolt entering the chimney.

MICHIGAN IS AT HEAD IN PURE FOOD LAWS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Lansing, Mich., August 15.—A score or more of laws passed by the last legislature and put into effect today are expected to put Michigan at the top of the list of "pure food" states. Some of the laws designed to prevent adulteration and to insure honest weights and measures are decidedly advanced in their character. All food inspectors throughout the state have been made inspectors of weights and measures also. Every commission merchant dealing in farm products is to be licensed by the state. Deceptive labels and the misbranding of food packages as to weight are prohibited. In future all butter sold in Michigan must be 80 per cent fat, cream 18 per cent fat and cheese 30 per cent fat. Sausage must contain not more than 2 per cent cereals and 3 per cent of water. No more Bob-veal less than four weeks old is to be sold. Other of the new laws provide strict sanitary regulations for creameries, canneries and other places where food stuffs are prepared or sold.

Those who have the most of happiness think the least about it. But in thinking about and in doing their duty happiness comes—because the heart and mind are occupied with earnest thought that touches at a thousand points the beautiful and sublime realities of the universe.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

WHAT A WIFE SHOULD KNOW.
A FEW years ago one of our neighbors died very suddenly. His widow had reason to expect to find herself fairly well off, as they had always lived comfortably and her husband had given her to understand that he had plenty laid by. But when she tried to put her hands on his money she found herself in great difficulty. His only will was a brief document making a few small bequests and devolving the remainder of his property to her. But he did not definitely state in his will what his property was, and in his lifetime he had never told his wife just what securities he possessed or where he kept them. Consequently it was years before she was able to possess what rightfully belonged to her.

That is one instance of the unnecessary trouble which can be caused by a man who does not believe in letting his wife know anything about his business affairs. Here is another.

During a business man's absence on a long business trip his home was robbed of the family jewels and silver. His wife knew they had burglar insurance but did not know in what company. She tried to reach her husband by letter or telegraph, but he had gone ahead of his schedule and every effort was in vain. The rules of the insurance company required the notice of the loss within a week. She failed to give it and lost the insurance, all because her husband had not troubled to acquaint her with a detail which certainly concerned her as well as his.

There are certain things about their husband's affairs which women should know. What these things are, differs according to circumstances, but every man knows just what they are in his own particular case. The idea that a woman cannot keep a secret when it is for her interest to do so is no longer tenable, and the woman who is so light-headed that she is not capable of understanding at least the business side of her husband's affairs scarcely exists outside of the asylum for the mentally undeveloped.

As a rule, it is not because men do not feel that they can trust their women-folks, or make them understand, that they don't tell them these things. It's just because they, the husbands, are careless. Perhaps the women are different too; I cannot tell.

But whether or not they care anything about knowing, women ought to know certain things about their husband's affairs, and any man who truly loves his wife, will insist that she know what his securities are, where he keeps them, what insurance he carries, and any other facts that he would want to know in her place.

Men in a business partnership do not think of keeping their partners in ignorance of affairs that concern the whole firm; why should they treat their partners in the great partnership of marriage any less severely?

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) I am a girl of twenty-three and am almost disheartened to death. I have always stayed home and worked hard, especially to please my mother. I have had good chances to marry, but because mother was always sick, I would not leave her. Now I cannot do anything to please her. She has a lot to worry about, she says, and I am so hard sometimes that it is distressing to stay at home. Can't you tell me something to do to keep her from being so unhappy?

(2) I am engaged to a young man of twenty. I know I love him very dearly and can be happy with him. Do you think he will always love me?

TROUBLED.
(1) Your mother probably is not well, and she may have worries she doesn't tell you about. Be as patient as you can and even though she scold just think how you will miss her when she is gone. Just don't quarrel with her and be as soothing and gentle as you can be.

(2) If you and the young man are very much alike, the difference in age will not do any harm. Whether he will always love you is something nobody can tell. He is too young to calculate what he will do in the future.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: May I please have your advice on a girl of eighteen marrying a man some ten or fifteen years older if she loves him dearly and he loves her dearly?

A FRIEND.
A girl of eighteen is not a young woman; she loves a man a great deal older than herself; but if they marry they are generally sorry for it. A girl who marries a man so much older than herself must expect to settle down to a sober life, without any good times at all, like other girls of her age have.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—We are two girls, eighteen and we go with two nice young men.

(1) We had a date to go to the dance and on account of sickness could not go. Our friends went and took two girls home. Should we still go with them?

(2) They gave us a birthday present.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Housekeeping as Business.
Under the above title I shall write occasionally of interesting experiments in home efficiency which I am making of interest to the practical housekeeper. These experiments worked out and tested by practical persons in our country today. We want to know what they mean by these new housekeeping, and whether these experiments are of any value to us when tried.

In a small suburb near New York lives Mrs. Patterson, who recently was elected president of the Federated Clubs of her state. She began the duties of her office first by questioning the problems of her own home.

This is what she says: "Under my existing arrangements of householding it seemed impossible for me to crowd in another duty. I had either to engage more servants or find some other way out of the difficulty. Additional servants meant more time in training them to better methods of work and a double expense to the home. So I began a systematic stock-taking of these responsibilities which were already overbalancing my energies and resources."

"I came to the conclusion that absolute self-dependence was as necessary to me as the manager of prove themselves domestically independent and not weaklings, living under the fear of the cook's giving notice and the inability to make both ends meet."

With this in mind Mrs. Patterson resolved from the first on an exhaustive use of labor-saving appliances, especially electrical, and an application every day of the new principle of business efficiency in the home. After thorough investigation she found in this country and England thousands of patents for labor-saving devices. Some of them were excellent. A great many of them of no use at all. Half of them she found expensive and useless, and the other half just what women would want and could use to bring their home and the work connected with it up to the highest efficiency.

In the next article I will give the experiment as followed out by Mrs. Patterson and some communications I have had from her along this line of practical new housekeeping.

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

MORE GOOD THINGS.

Try some of these unusual dishes, they are as delicious as unusual.

Molasses Crumb Pie.—Make a rich pie crust and line a pan, mix a cup of flour with a quarter of a cup of brown or granulated sugar, a quarter of a cup of shortening and a teaspoonful of baking powder. Rub these together thoroughly and put in the lined pans, pour over the following mixture, a quarter of a cup of New Orleans molasses, a quarter of a teaspoon of soda and a quarter of a cup of boiling water. Bake in a moderate oven.

Mangoes.—Take green cantaloupes, cut in half and remove the seeds. Soak in brine and scald in spiced vinegar. Stuff and tie together, cover with vinegar, hot or cold. For the filling, chopped cabbage soaked in brine, then well drained, season with horseradish, ginger root, sugar, nutmeg and celery seed. Red peppers are a good addition.

Spiced apples are delicious especially the young green ones in the early market. Prepare a moderately sweet sirup, boil five minutes, with a few cloves and twice as much stick cinnamon. Pare the apples and cook until tender a few at a time, remove from the sirup and when all are cooked, cook the sirup until thick and pour over them.

Chow-Chow.—The vegetables used in this are cauliflower, string beans, green tomatoes, red peppers, lima beans, pearl onions, celery cucumbers, small and large. The beans and tomatoes should be soaked by themselves, the other vegetables cut in pieces are soaked in brine, then drain. To three quarts of vinegar make a paste of six tablespoons of mustard, one of turmeric, a cup of flour, two of sugar and two tablespoons of celery seed. Bring to the boiling point and pour while hot over the drained pickles.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Please tell me how I can get popular among a nice class of boys. I would rather stay in all my life, by myself, than make up with boys I don't know.

(2) Do you think it is wrong for a girl to let a boy come up and talk to her if she has never seen him before?

LONESOME.
(1) Make yourself entertaining. Be both sensible and jolly. Show yourself interested in things that interest the boys. Get the boys to talk about the things they care about. Invite the boys and girls to the parties at your home and hunt up games to play together. Be as pretty and as pleasant as you can be. I am sure you will then be liked by nice boys.

(2) If he wants to know her, he should ask to be properly introduced.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Could you kindly tell me what will take street off a white voile dress?

If gasoline will not take it off, apply turpentine. Then scrape off and sponge with turpentine. Always work toward the center of the stain to avoid leaving a ring.

PRETTY FROCK OF BUFF LINEN

This frock is made out of buff colored linen. The skirt is notched on the left side of the front below the girdle, and the notch is outlined with linen buttons, and the skirt is very slightly draped from under the notch. The jacket is short in front, and ends in a point below the waist in the back. The sleeve is in one with the jacket, and is flared at the lower part and finished on the inside of the arm with a band of linen.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

To remove dust from your range, moisten a piece of soap and rub it all over the steel; then apply a rag well covered with brick dust. Polish with a fresh egg.

Use lemon juice and salt to remove iron rust, ink, or mildew from white goods.

Silk sash or braid is an excellent material for ribbon drawstrings in the clothes of children, as it is very strong.

One teaspoonful of ammonia and one of turpentine in one pint of warm water is fine for cleaning black silk.

If an ostrich feather gets damp, sprinkle it well with common table salt and hold it before a bright fire until perfectly dry.

A paste made of lemon and sulphur will clean white straw hats beautifully. Apply the paste with a brush, brushing the hat thoroughly with it.

Rub porcelain and enameled ware with a cloth saturated with kerosene oil to remove stains.

For sore throat: Take a piece of onion, spread with salt and then bunion. Will draw out all soreness.

THE TABLE.
Chocolate Mold—Four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, a quarter of a cup of milk, two cupfuls of scalded milk, a quarter of a cupful of sugar, half a teaspoonful of vanilla extract, half a cupful of blanched almonds, three ounces of chocolate melted with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, three whites of eggs. Mix the cornstarch with the cold milk; add a pinch of salt, scalded milk and the melted chocolate, mixed with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Cook in a double boiler for half an hour, stirring constantly.

Well-beaten egg and fold in the mixture as fluffy as possible. Then add the vanilla extract. Decorate the bottom and sides of a wet mold with halves of almonds arranged in the shape of daisies. Pour in the cornstarch mixture, chill, remove from the mold and garnish with whipped and sweetened cream flavored with vanilla.

Chicken Salad.—Two cups cold boiled chicken, 1 cup finely cut celery, 1 small green pepper, 1 tablespoon onion juice and boiled salad dressing as needed. Cut cold boiled chicken into small pieces, mince the celery and pepper, mix all ingredients, then add as much of the boiled dressing as needed to make an agreeably seasoned mixture, not too moist. If the chicken has not been seasoned a little salt and pepper must be added when mixing.

Lamb Fry Croquettes.—Boil lamb fries in a little salt water until tender. When cold, mince, add one-half can of mushrooms chopped fine, half a cupful of warm boiled rice and one cupful of thick, highly seasoned cream sauce. Cool and then shape in small balls, roll in crumbs, eggs and crumbs and fry in boiling fat. Drain on brown paper, serve hot with a garnish of parsley.

Stuffed Sweet Peppers.—Remove the seeds from six sweet peppers and cook the peppers in boiling water until tender. Stuff with one cupful of cold cooked chicken, chopped fine, one-half cupful of bread crumbs, one teaspoonful of minced onion, a few of the pepper seeds, all mixed well together and thoroughly seasoned with salt and pepper. Four a tablespoonful of cream over each pepper and put a generous piece of butter on top of each and bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes.

Letting Soup.—The stock is of the "hoof end" of the veal. You crack the bone and simmer four hours with water, but remember in this soup you can have only celery flavoring. When your stock is ready, drop in three cups of lettuce, which you have cut in long shreds. Very nice and good for the digestion.

everyday talks. The Egyptian user (to whom the cat was just why we do not know, but possibly for reasons that may be guessed after reading the following poem. At any rate, the cat can set some of us a model of good example. This matter of lighting on one's feet is not entirely accidental; it depends a whole lot on the cat—also the person.

You take a cat up by the tail, and whirl him round and round, and out into space profound; He through the yielding atmosphere Will many a whirl complete; But when he strikes upon the ground He'll land upon his feet.

Fate takes a man just like a cat, And, with more force than grace, It whisks him wriggling round and round, And whisks him into space; And those that fall upon the back, Or land upon the head, Fate lets them lie just where they fall. They're just as good as dead.

But some there be, that take the cat, Whirl round and round and round, And go gyrating off through space, Until they strike the ground, But when at last the ground and they Do really come to meet, You'll always find them right side up. They land upon their feet.

Story of a Precocious Five-Year-Old.
Bill Bowen of Atchison tells the Globe of a woman and her little son who were on a Central Branch train the other day. "Pares, please," the conductor said, and the woman handed him one ticket. "Boy will have to pay, too, madam," said the conductor. "Oh, but he's only five years old," she replied. "Looks mighty old to be only five years old," snapped the conductor. "Yes, he does, but you see, he has been doing a lot of worrying," she answered.

Is Such Economy Unwise? The low cost of living is dangerous. A fellow who hoarded that he spent but two cents a day has been murdered by acquaintances who interfered he had money in his stocking.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Skills a Home-Made Product. Norway skills are not made in factories, but in the homes of carpenters, who give all their time to the business, in summer laying up supplies for the coming winter.

Cooking Requirements.

Are met MOST SATISFACTORILY in kitchens where GAS is used.

If the cooking requires but little heat and is to be done slowly a GAS RANGE can be regulated accordingly, or if intense heat is needed for rapid cooking it is always there for your use.

But the complete regulation of a GAS RANGE is only one of its many decided advantages.

An important fact to remember is that GAS IS THE MOST ECONOMICAL KITCHEN FUEL.

Let us furnish full information about the "All-Gas Kitchen."

LAST INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN BY MISS PEET

DEMONSTRATIONS IN COOKING
CAME TO A CLOSE THIS MORNING.

NEW METHODS TAUGHT

Speaker Answers Many Questions
Covering Wide Range of Subjects—New Cake Recipes.

All the progressive housewives of Janesville who have been attending the Gazette's cooking school gathered in the Assembly hall this morning to hear the final lesson and say
good-bye to Miss Peet.

Miss Peet's comments on the ingredients which she uses in her
recipes were most convincing and it is safe to say that the women presents will follow her suggestions. She showed just why the products she recommends are the most economical
and why they make the most delicious and most easily digested foods. It is evident that Miss Peet studied the subject most thoroughly
and is entirely qualified to give expert advice to housekeepers who do not have the time or the inclination
to investigate the various food
products for themselves.

After the lecture-demonstration
proper, many women took advantage
of the final session to ask individual questions which were promptly and carefully answered by the charming expert. These questions covered a wide range of subjects including not only cooking, but housekeeping in general. Miss Peet's answers showed that she is a real home-maker and that economical efficiency in the kitchen is not the only subject upon which she can give helpful information.

There will be a dance at the Assembly hall tonight. In fact the doors
are going to be locked and the windows fastened down. No one but the spirits of foods will hit hither and thence in the kitchen. The lights will be furnished by street lamps outside. It is going to be a wild night indeed in that kitchen hall. An unimaginative passerby peering through the windows would probably discern nothing
but the shadows of the dancing will be there in the greatest glee. The spirit of the fried fish will gaily
choose as its partner for the dance
that of the fricassee chicken, while
the ghost of the salmon croquette
will waltz about with a cheese ball.
Don Pedro, the Mexican salad, will twang his guitar as an accompaniment to Peach Melba who will render a silent song in the most improved prima donna style. Little coconut cake will shade their shreds
and potato chips will drift thick and
fast around the queen of the evening,
a puffy pudding, who is too dignified
and corpulent to join in the dancing.
All present at this wild orgy will intake of devil's food, green peppers
and Jamaica ginger, which are listed as the only stimulants allowed at the revel.

Seriously, however, the Gazette's
school will be missed by all Miss Peet will be missed by a host of friends whom she has made during her five-day engagement in Janesville. Her recipes will be printed exclusively in the columns of the Gazette.

Miss Peet's recipe book is now a treasured possession in many homes.
She trusts that every woman who had failed to secure a copy before today
did so before her departure. If, however, anybody neglected to ask for a copy, the Gazette will arrange to supply one on request.

In conclusion Miss Peet wants to commend the women of Janesville
for the interest they have shown in progressive housekeeping.

CENTER

Center, Aug. 15.—Good farms seem to be in demand. The latest change of real estate was that consumed by W. S. Poynter and M. Ballmer, when the latter became the owner of the Poynter farm. The consideration was $125 per acre.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Silverthorn and children of Evansville, ate Sunday dinner with F. H. Fuller and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Grauseo and children of Janesville, were Saturday night and Sunday visitors at the parental home.

Why is the soda cracker today such a universal food?

People ate soda crackers in the old days, it is true—but they bought them from a barrel or box and took them home in a paper bag, their crispness and flavor all gone.

Unedea Biscuit—soda crackers
better than any ever made before
—made in the greatest bakeries
in the world—baked to perfection
—packed to perfection—kept to perfection until you take them,
oven-fresh and crisp, from their protecting package. Five cents.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

from a week's outing Tuesday. Miss Edna Schroeder of Janesville, accompanied her home for a visit.

are visiting at their brother Harry's
for a few days.

Miss Verna Davis of Fort Atkinson,
is suffering with an attack of tonsillitis.

ing a week at the home of F. Davis.
Mr. and Mrs. George Cator were recent visitors at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. J. E. Davis.

Bloomhorn-Rohrling near Hesperia
last Thursday evening, despite the inclemency of the weather.

PLAN INSTALLATION OF POLICE LIGHTS

Intention of City Council to Have Signal System Put in As Soon
As Labor Can Be Secured

Three signal lights for the purpose
of notifying patrolmen on their
beats that they are wanted at the police station, will be installed by the city as soon as the help to do the work can be secured. It is proposed to put one light at the intersection of West Milwaukee and River streets,
another at the intersection of
East Milwaukee and Main streets,
and a third at the intersection of
West Milwaukee and River streets,
and another at the intersection of
East Milwaukee and Main streets.
Telephones accessible at all times
are convenient at these points except the corner of River and West Milwaukee streets, and one may be installed in a box at this point so that the officer summoned may at once
communicate with headquarters.
Chief H. C. Klein of the fire department has expressed his willingness to supervise the work, but is at present experiencing difficulty in securing men to keep the fire alarm telegraph lines in proper shape and the linemen of the two telephone companies too busy just now to consider it.

The expense of putting in the system should not exceed $700 at the highest, and will not serve to increase the cost of the city. The installation of a complete and modern police alarm system, such as is contemplated, is a project which the city fathers state that in all probability
the next city budget will provide for such an improvement. The city of Racine is now replacing an old system with one of more modern and efficient type and has sent to this city a sample of the call-boxes discarded. Mayor Fathers and Chief of Police Ransom are of the opinion that it is not what the city wants.
The estimated cost of a modern police telegraph system is $1,700.

NO ANDY TOTH CASE WILL BE POSSIBLE

New Law Gives Board of Control
Right to Judge of Wrongful Imprisonment and Grant
Reparation.

Wisconsin can never have an Andy Toth case, because a law enacted at the late session of the legislature,
which makes it possible for any person wrongfully imprisoned to secure compensation up to an amount not to exceed $5,000.

It was the case of Andy Toth, who spent almost a lifetime in a Pennsylvania penitentiary before it was discovered that he was innocent and who was then turned out penniless and broken in health, that aroused such universal attention to such wrongdoing as to lead to many proposals for legislation providing for compensation.

Wisconsin is the first state to enact
such a law. It places the administration of the relief in the hands of the state board of control, provides for a hearing before which the applicant
may prove his innocence of a crime for which he has been punished and prescribes the granting of relief in case
he is shown to be innocent. If the board considers that the maximum amount they are permitted to grant is inadequate they can recommend a further appropriation by the legislature.

BARN NEAR BELOIT FIRED BY LIGHTNING

Fred Hopper and Fay Griswold Suffer Losses in Electrical Storm
of Thursday Morning.

Two barns, one near Beloit and the other near Shopshire, were completely destroyed when struck by lightning in the storm of Thursday morning. Fred Hopper, northeast of Beloit, had a large barn and its contents with the exception of the livestock, destroyed, and Fay Griswold,
three miles southeast of Shopshire,
lost a quantity of hay and feed.
One horse was burned.

The heavy rain which accompanied
the storm did no damage to the corn or tobacco. Farmers estimated that it has insured at least a third better
corn crop as it came at a time when it was most needed, the corn being at the stage of ear formation. With the hot weather tobacco will have a rapid growth which will make for a finer and better quality of binder.

Heat a Menace to Lives of Old Folks

Sickness and Misery Result From Clogged Bowels in Hot Weather.

People advancing in years should be very careful of their health during the hot months, as heat has a very enervating and weakening effect on them. One has only to look at the daily list of fatalities to elderly people reported by the papers to realize that these are the hardest months for them to overcome.

The easily digested foods should be eaten, and then only sparingly, and alcoholic beverages and food things
should be avoided as much as possible.
Exercise should be taken daily in the shade. Most important of all in the maintenance of health and vigor at this time is to avoid constipation, with its accompanying headaches and muscular and blood congestion. This is accomplished by the timely use of a gentle laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is the ideal laxative for elderly people, as it is mild,
tastes pleasant, and does not gripe.

Best of all, it contains valuable tonic
properties that build up and strengthen the system.
Elderly people should avoid strong
physics, cathartics, purgatives, salts
and pills, as they are a shock to the system. In the opinion of reliable people like Mrs. C. J. Nicholas, 2010
Oma Ave. Chicago, Ill.,

esteems it a benefit to mankind, and
J. C. Nichols, 210 N. Law St., Albion, Pa., who declares that her stomach and bowels are now in perfect working order. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the right remedy to use. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. The latter size is bought steadily by those who already know
its value.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418
Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

CHAPTER I.

The Owner of New York. Percy Darrow, a young man of scientific training, indolent manners, effeminate appearance, hidden energy, and absolute courage, lounged through the doors of the Atlas Building. Since his rescue from the volcanic island that had witnessed the practical murder of his old employer, Doctor Schermerhorn, the spectacular dissolution of the murderers, and his own imprisonment in a cave beneath the very room of an eruption, he had been nursing his shattered nerves back to their normal strength. Now he felt that at last he was able to go to work again. Therefore, he was about to approach a man of influence among practical scientists, from whom he hoped further occupation.

As the express elevator shot upward, he passed a long slender hand across his eyes. The rapid motion confused him still. The car stopped, and the metallic gates clanged open. Darrow obediently stepped forth. Only when the elevator had disappeared did his upward glance bring to him the knowledge that he had disembarked one floor too soon.

Darrow's eye fell on a lettered sign outside the nearest door. He smiled a slow red-tipped smile beneath his small silky mustache, dropped his black eyelashes in a flicker of reminiscence, hesitated a moment, then stepped languidly forward and opened the door. The sign indicated the headquarters of the very modest commission behind which McCarthy chose to work. McCarthy, quite simply, at that time owned New York. As Darrow entered, McCarthy hung up the telephone receiver with a smash, and sat glaring at the instrument. After a moment he turned his small bright eyes toward the newcomer.

"Hello, Perc," he growled. "Didn't see you. Say, I'm so mad my skin cracks. Just now some measly little shrimp called me up from a public booth. What he suppose he wanted, now? Oh, nothing! Just told me in so many words for me to pack up my little trunk and sail for Europe and never come back! That's all! He give me until Sunday, too." McCarthy barked out a short laugh, and reached for a cigar-box, which he held out to Darrow.

Percy shook his head. "So he wants you to go to Europe?" "Wants me? Orders me! Says I got to," McCarthy laughed. "Lovely thought!" He puffed out a cloud of smoke. "Says if I don't obey orders he'll send me a 'sign' to convince me!" went on the boss. "He's got a mean voice. He ought to have a tag hung on him and get carried to the morgue. He give me the shivers, like a dead man. I never hear such a unholly thing outside a graveyard at midnight!"

Percy Darrow was surveying him with leisurely amusement, a slight smile playing over his narrow dark face. "His 'sign' he promised is apt to be a bomb," observed Darrow. "He's nutty, all right," McCarthy agreed, "but when he said that, he was doing the tall religious. He's got a bug that way." "Your affair," said Darrow. "Just the same, I'd have an outer office." "Outer office—rot!" said the boss. "An outer office just gets cluttered up with people waiting. Here they've got to say right out in meeting—if I want 'em to. What's the good word, Perc? What can I do for you?" Darrow smiled. "You know very well, my fat friend, that the only reason you like me at all is that I'm the one and only man who comes into this office who doesn't want one single thing of you."

"I suppose that's it," agreed McCarthy.

Carthy. The telephone rang. He snatched down the receiver, listened a moment, and thrust forward his heavy jaw. "Not on your life!" he growled in answer to some question. While he was still occupied with the receiver, Percy Darrow nodded and sauntered out.

CHAPTER II.

The Shadow of Mystery. Darrow walked up the one flight of steps to the story above. He found his acquaintance in, and at once broached the subject of his errand. Doctor Knox promised the matter his attention. The two men then embarked on a long discussion of Professor Schermerhorn's discovery of super-radium, and the strange series of events that had encompassed his death. Into the midst of the discussion burst McCarthy, his face red with suppressed anger.

"Can I use your phone?" he growled. "Oh, yes," said he, as he caught sight of the instrument. Without awaiting the requested permission, he jerked

the receiver from its hook and placed it to his ear. "Deader than a smelt!" he burst out. "This is a nice way to run a public business! Thanks," he nodded to Doctor Knox, and stormed out. Darrow rose languidly.

"I'll see you again," he told Knox. "At present I'm going to follow the human cyclone. It takes more than mere telephones to wake McCarthy up like that." He found the boss in the hall, his finger against the "down" button. "That's three cars has passed me," he snarled, trying to peer through the ground glass that, in the Atlas Building, surrounded the shaft. "I'll tan somebody's hide. Down!" he belowered at a shadow on the glass.

"Have a cigarette," proffered Darrow. "Calm down. To the scientific eye you're out of condition for such emotions. You thickheads are subject to apoplexy." "Oh, shut up!" growled McCarthy. "There isn't a phone in order in this building two floors either way. I've tried 'em—and there hasn't been for twenty minutes. And I can't get a messenger to answer a call; and that ring-tailed, star-spangled ornament of a janitor won't answer his private bell. I'll get him bounced so high the blackbirds will build nests in his ear before he comes down again."

After trying vainly to stop a car on its way up or down, McCarthy stumped down a flight of stairs, followed more leisurely by the calmly unhurried Darrow. Here the same performance was repeated. A half dozen men by now had joined them. So they progressed from story to story until an elevator boy, attracted by their frantic shouts, stopped to see what was the matter. Immediately the door was slid back on its runners, McCarthy seized the astonished operator by the collar.

"Come out of that, you scum of the earth!" he roared. "Come out of that and tell me why you don't stop for signals!"

"I ain't seen no signals!" gasped the elevator boy.

Some one punched the button, but the little, round, annunciator disk in the car failed to illuminate.

"I wonder if there's anything in order in this miserable hole!" snarled McCarthy.

"The lights is gone out," volunteered the boy; and indeed for the first time the men now crowding the car noticed that the incandescents were dead.

While McCarthy stormed out to spread abroad impartial threats against two public utility concerns for interfering with his business, Percy Darrow, his curiosity aroused, interviewed the janitor. Under that functionary's guidance he examined the points of entrance for the different wires used for lighting and communication; looked over the private bell installation; and ascended again to the corridor, abstractedly dusting his fingers. There he found a group of the building's tenants, among whom he distinguished Doctor Knox.

"Same complaint, I suppose—no phones, no lights, no bells," he remarked.

"Seems to be," replied Knox. "General condition. Acts as though the main arteries had been cut outside."

"Inside bells? House phones?" suggested Darrow.

The repair men came in double-quick time and great confidence. They went to work in an assured manner, which soon slackened to a slower bewilderment. Some one disappeared, to return with a box of new batteries. The head repair man connected a group of these with a small bell in the executive office. The instrument, however, failed to respond.

"Try you ammeter," suggested Darrow, who had followed.

The delicate needle of the instrument did not quiver. "Batteries dead!" said the repair man. "Jim, what the hotel-bill do you mean by getting dead batteries? Go back and bring a new lot, and test 'em."

In due time Jim returned. "These test to fifteen," said he. "Go to it!"

"Test—nothing!" roared the repair man after a moment. "These are dead, too."

Percy Darrow left the ensuing argument to its own warmth. It was growing late. In the corridor a few hastily-brought lamps cast a dim light. Percy collided against Doctor Knox entering the building.

"Not fixed yet?" asked the latter in evident disappointment. "What's the matter?"

"I don't know," said Darrow slowly; "it puzzles me. It's more than an ordinary break of connections or short-circuiting through apparatus. If one could imagine a big building like this polarized in some way—anyway, the electricity is dead. Look here." He pulled an electric flash-light from his pocket. "Bought this fresh on my way here. Tested it, of course. Now, there's nothing wonderful about these toys going back on a man; but—he pressed the button and peered down the lens—"this is a funny coincidence." He turned the lens toward his friend. The filament was dark.

CHAPTER III.

The Moving Finger Writes. The condition of affairs in the Atlas Building lasted long enough to carry the matter up to the experts in the employ of the companies; that is to say, until about three o'clock the following morning. Then, without reason, and all at once, the whole building from top to bottom was a blaze of incandescent light.

The little group of workmen and experts nodded in a competent and satisfied manner, and began leisurely to pack their tools as though at the successful completion of a long and difficult job.

But every man jack of them knew perfectly well that the electrical apparatus of the building was now in exactly the same condition as it had been the evening before. No repair work had followed a futile investigation.

As the group moved toward the outer air, the head repair man quietly dropped behind. Surprisingly he applied the slender cords of his pocket ammeter to the zinc and carbon of the dead batteries concerning whose freshness he and his assistant had argued. The delicate needle leaped forward, quivered like a snake's tongue, and hovered over a number.

"Fifteen," read the repair man; and then, after a moment: "Hell!"

The daily business, therefore, opened normally. The elevator shot from floor to floor; the telephones rang; the call-bells buzzed, and all was well. At six o'clock came the scrub-woman; at half past seven the office boys; at eight the clerks; a little later some of the heads; and precisely at nine Malachi McCarthy, as was his invariable habit.

As the bulky form of the political boss pushed around the leaves of the revolving door, the elevator starter glanced at his watch. This was not to determine if McCarthy was on time, but to see if the watch was right.

McCarthy had recovered his good humor. He threw a joke at the negro polishing the brass, and paused genially to exchange a word with the elevator starter.

"Worked until about three o'clock," the latter answered a question. "Got it fixed all right. No, they didn't say what was the matter. Something to do with the wires, I suppose."

"Most likely," agreed McCarthy. At that moment an elevator dropped from above and came to rest, like a swift bird alighting. The doors parted to let out a young man wearing the cap of the United Wireless.

"Good morning, Mr. McCarthy," this young man remarked in passing. "Aren't going into the sign-painting business, are you?" He laughed.

"What've you got, Mike?" demanded McCarthy.

The young man wheeled to include the elevator starter in the joke. (TO BE CONTINUED.)

Dinner Stories

Two Irishmen were discussing the various books they had read:

"Have you read 'The External City'?"

"I have."

"Have you read Marie Correll's works?"

"I have that."

"Have you read 'Looking Backward'?"

"How on earth could I do that?"

It was a banquet where a notable gathering of politicians had assembled. A certain aspiring young attorney was among the number, and as he spied an influential judge at the far end of the parlor, he called the head waiter, slipped half a dollar into his hand, and whispered:

"Put me next to Judge Spink at the table."

Upon being seated, however, he found he was at the other end of the room from the judge.

He called the head waiter to explain.

"Well, sir," replied the official, "fear is that the judge gave me a dollar to put you as far from him as possible."

Richard Mansfield, the actor, had not much hair, and this fact was commented on to the actor by a lady whose friendship permitted personal allusions. "Why, Mr. Mansfield," said the lady, "you are losing your hair all the time. You'll be bald if this keeps on."

"Keeps on, madam?" queried the actor, putting his hand on what remained of his hair. "My daily prayer is that this will keep on."

His Duty. Policeman (loquutor)—I seen my duty an' I done it. I says to the captain, "There's a guy runnin' a tough joint down the street." The captain says to me, "Go pull"—an' I starts to go—"his leg," says the captain. So I seen my duty an' I done it—Judge.

They Take No Chances. The Chinese blacksmith thinks a great deal of his anatomy, when shoeing horses, which are not numerous in China. He is so skittish in doing a job of shoeing and so dubious about handling the hoofs of the animal, that, when shoeing is required, the horse is strung up with ropes in such a manner as to prevent kicking. No exceptions are made, even though the horse be a scrawny street plug of advanced age.
